Public Bathing House.

THE Proprietors of THE PITTSBURGH STEAM MILL BATHING HOUSE, hereby inform the Public, that the capacity of the large reservoirs for that establishment is double, and so arranged that the cold and warm waters are perfectly seperated. The public will in future meet with the disappointments frequent on the former arrangement.

The cost of this establishment, has been considerable, and the Proprietors are sorry to say that the proceeds arising from it are not sufficient to warrant the opening of it another season under the present limited patronage. It is however hoped that the new arrangement alluded to, together with a more extended knowledge of the great benefit arising from the use of Baths, will in a short time, procure a more liberal encouragement.

The price of BATHING is 25 Cents. The House will be open from 5 in the morning till 9 at night.

INTERESTING STORY.

THE following story is related on the authority of Lady Hamilton, the first wife of Sir Wm: Hamilton, many years the British minister at the court of Naples.

About the year 1743, a person of the name of Ogilvie, an Irishman by birth, who practised Surgery with great reputation at Rome, and who resided not far from the Piazze di Spagna, in that city, being in bed was called up to attend some strangers, who demanded his professional assistance. They stopped before his house in a coach; and on his going to the door he found two men masked, by whom he was desired to accompany them immediately, as the case which brought them admitted of no delay. He complied and got into the coach; but no sooner had they quitted the street in which he resided, than they informed him he must submit to have his eyes bandaged; the person to whom they were about to conduct him, being a lady of rank, whose name and place of abode it was indispensable to conceal. To this requisition he likewise submitted; and having driven through a number of streets, apparently with a view to prevent his forming any accurate idea of the part of the city to which he was conducted, the carriage at length stopped. The two gentlemen his companions, then alighting and each taking him by the arm conducted him into a house. Ascending a narrow staircase they entered an apartment, where he was released from the bandage tied over his eyes. One of them next acquainted him, that it being necessary to put out of life a lady who had dishonored her family, they had chosen him to perform the office, knowing his professional skill; that he would find her in the adjoining chamber, prepared to submit to her fate; and that he must open her veins with as much expedition as possible; a service, for the execution of which, he should receive a liberal recompence.

Ogilvie at first peremptorily refused to commit an act, so highly repugnant to his feelings. But the two strangers assured him with solemn denunciations of vengeance, that his refusal could only prove fatal to himself, without affording the slighest assistance to the object of his compassion; that her doom was irrevocable, and that he must submit to execute the office imposed on him. Thus situated, and finding all entreaties or remonstrance vain, he entered the room where he found a Lady, of a most interesting figure and appearance, apparently in the bloom of youth. She was habited in a loose undress; and immediately afterwards a female attendant placed before her a large tub filled with warm water, in which she immersed her legs.—Far from opposing the act which she knew he was sent to perform, the lady assured him of her perfect resignation; entreating him to put the sentence passed on her into execution, with as little delay as possible. She added, that she was well aware, no pardon could be hoped for from those who had devoted her to death, which alone could expiate her trespass; felicitating herself that his humanity would abbreviate her sufferings, and soon terminate their duration.

After a short conflict with his own mind, perceiving no means of extrication or of escape, either for the lady or for himself; being moreover urged to expedite his work by two persons without, who impatient at his reluctance, threatened to exercise violence on him, if he procrastinated; Ogilvie took out his lancet, opened her viens and bled her to death in a short time. The gentlemen having carefully examined the body, in order to ascertain that she was no more; after expressing their satisfaction, offered him a purse of zechins, as a remuneration: but he declined all recompence, only requesting to be conveyed from a scene on which he could not reflect without horror. With this entreaty they complied, and having again applied a bandage to his eyes, they led him down the same staircase, to the carriage.—But, it being narrow, in descending the steps, he contrived to leave on one or both of the walls, unperceived by his conductors, the marks of his fingers which were stained with blood. After observing precautions similar to those used in bringing him from his own house, he was conducted home; and at parting, the two masques charged him if he valued his life, never to divulge, and if possible never to think, on the past transaction—They added that if he should embrace any measures with a view to render it public, or to set on foot an enquiry into it, he should be infallibly immolated to their revenge. Having finally dismissed him at his own door, they drove off leaving him to his reflections.

On the subsequent morning, after great irresolution, he determined, at whatever risk to his personal safety not to participate, by concealing so enormous a crime.

It formed, nevertheless, a delicate and difficult undertaking to substantiate the charge, as he remained altogether ignorant of the place to which he had been carried, or of the name and quality of the lady whom he had deprived of life. Without suffering himself to be deterred by these considerations, he waited on the secretary of the Apostolic Chamber, and acquainted him with every particular; adding, that if the government would extend to him protection, he did not despair of finding the house; and of bringing to light the perpetrators of the deed.—Benedict the Fourteenth, (Lambertini) who then occupied the Papal chair, had no sooner received the information, than he immediately commenced the most active measures for discovering the offenders. A guard of the Shirri, or officers of justice, was appointed by his order, to accompany Ogilvie; who judging from various circumstances, that he had been conveyed out of the city of Rome, began by visiting the Villas scattered without the walls of that metropolis. His search proved ultimately successful. In the Filla Punia Julia, constructed by Pope Julius the Third, he there found the bloody marks found on the walls by his fingers, at the same he recognized the apartment in which he had put to death the lady. The palace belonged to the duke de Bracciano, the chief of which illustrious family and his brother had committed the murder in the person of their own sister. They no sooner found it was discovered than they fled to this city, where they easily eluded the pursuit of justice. After remaining here some time, they obtained a pardon, by the exertions of their powerful friends, on paying of a considerable fine to the Apostolic Chamber, and under the further condition of affixing over the chimney-piece of the room, where the crime had been committed, a plate of copper, commemorating the transaction, and their penitence.—This plate, together with the inscription, still continued to exist there till within these few years.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.

From France.

Yesterday arrived here brig Sampson, captain Sampson, having left Bordeaux on the 7th ult. We are informed by Mr. Sampson the supercargo, that France was generally in a state of quiet, & that no recent events of importance had taken place. Many of the officers had been arrested and were to be tried for their adherence to Bonaparte, and it was reported that 2 or 3 had been capitally punished.

Gen. Clausel, the military commandant at Bordeaux, had made his escape. There was no truth in the report that 20,000 Prussians had been cut off by the French. It was said that an allied army of 100,000 was to be cantoned in France for 5 years, at the expence of France.

The treaty made by com. Decatur with Algiers had been announced in France, it was said officially.

The terms of it were said to be, that on our part we give up the ships of war captured, with all prisoners; and that Algiers relinquishes all claim for tribute, gives up all captured American vessels and prisoners, and engages to indemnify us for the expence of the expedition against her.

We have been favored with Paris papers to Aug. 2, from which we have made the following translations:

PARIS, AUG. 1.

Workmen were employed in replacing the names of the streets and public places of Paris, which they bore previous to the year 1792.

It appears that they are actively employed at the office of the ministry of war in the re-organization of the army. It is said his Majesty has given his approbation to the plan which has been presented to him for effecting this object. It is believed that all the officers of more than 50 years old, will obtain an honourable retreat.

Lord Wellington has offered to the prefect of the police, his soldiers to assist in harvesting, & the carriages of his army for transportation.

Many of the generals named in the decree of the King, of the 24th July, it is said have obtained passports to depart from the kingdom.

The emigrant Frenchmen, who had assembled on the Spanish frontier, entered St. Jean de Luz on the 21st, where they were received with enthusiasm.—Thence they are to direct their course upon Bayonne.

They write from L'Orient, that the royal army of La Vendee which had been injuriously asserted to have joined the army of the Loire is recruiting greatly in the country.

PARIS, AUGUST 2.

A legion bearing the name of Maria Theresa has been formed in the department of the Gironde. It is composed of 1200 infantry, 500 cavalry, and a company of artillery. The command of it is given to marshal-de-champ Pegot.

An order of the day of count Desolle, July 31, orders that, conformably to a letter from Baron Mathing, the soldiers of the allies wandering in the streets during the night, shall be arrested by the patroles of the national guard.

Some Russian troops arrived yesterday in the environs of Paris. Seven hundred soldiers of that nation are cantoned at Vilette.

The army of the Loire has made a movement which appears to be directed towards the mountains of Auvergne, whither it is preceded by a great part of its materiel and artillery.

The department of the Lower Seine is one of those which are destined for the cantonments of the English army. A brigade of cavalry and a company of horse artillery arrived yesterday at Rouen.

Marshal Suchet was at Roane on Saturday morning. He had with him about 7 or 8 battalions and artillery proportioned to that number of troops.

The allied troops are making dispositions for a vigorous blockade of Laon and Soissons.

A Russian military government has been organized for Loraine, and the departments of the Marne, and the Seine, and Marne.

Some excesses have been mingled with the rejoicings in the town of Bordeaux. Some windows have been broken, and some women distinguished as Bonapartists have been promenaded upon asses.

Gen. Lecourbe is shut up in Befort.—Besancon is yet blockaded.

It is pretended that Murat was still at Toulon on the 24th July.

PARIS, JULY 26.

The division of France into military governments by the Allies.

OFFICIAL NOTE.

The Ministers have taken into mature consideration the overtures which the ministers of the King have transmitted to them, by his excellency baron Louis, with a view to regulate the conduct of the administration in the countries occupied by the Allied armies. They are too deeply sensible of the necessity of adopting the most urgent and the most efficacious measures on this subject, not to enter heartily into the views which have dictated those propositions. They are therefore of opinion, that the following arrangements which have been determined upon, will be best calculated to reconcile the wishes of the king, with the situation in which the allied armies will be placed during their stay in France:

1. To prevent the movements resulting from the uncertainty in which the allied armies still are respecting their cantonment, a line of demarkation shall determine the departments which shall be occupied by them, and to be specially assigned for their subsistence.

2. These departments shall be divided among the different armies in such a manner, that each of them shall have a district, and consequently that in each department there shall be no troops but what belong to one and the same army.

3. Nevertheless in the different districts, and in general in all the departments occupied by the Allies, one uniform system shall be pursued in all matters which concern the administration, and relate to the wants of the armies.

4. The authorities of the king shall be immediately restored in the departments and the prefect and the sub-prefects reinstated in the exercise of their functions.

5. In order to protect these authorities, and to provide with certainty that, on the one hand, whatever relates to the service and wants of the allied armies, shall be punctually executed, and that on the other, those armies observe the strictest order, Military governors shall be appointed for the departments forming the districts of each army; but it shall be only in regard to the service and securities of these armies, that the prefects & other public functionaries, shall receive the directions of the military governments of the allied powers.

6. These objects shall be still more particularly determined; but the maintenance of the different armies shall take place on principles which shall be uniformly adopted.

7. An administrative Commission has been established at Paris, and shall, as soon as possible, communicate with the commission appointed by the king.

8. Orders have been given that the contributions in money which have been imposed upon several towns and departments shall not be further enforced, and that in future no contribution of this kind shall be demanded by the single orders of the Intendants of the different armies.

As these arrangements go as far as the allies are permitted for the moment, by a due concern for their own armies, and their military situation, the undersigned flatter themselves, that the king's minister will perceive in them, the sincere desire which they feel to contribute to the re-establishment of the royal authority, and to the alleviation of the charges of the war, as far as circumstances allow them the possibility.

To his serene highness,
Prince Talleyrand.

FOREIGN ADVICES.

By several recent arrivals from Europe, we have obtained Paris accounts of a late date. On perusing the great mass of matter, which they furnish, we do not perceive that any important events, interesting to this country, have transpired since our previous dates. The political affairs of France, which we now look up to with considerable anxiety, had not been fully settled; the civil government was nearly organized; and such arrangements made, with respect to the military, as to shut out the Bonapartists, root and branch. The new royal guards, which were to consist of 25,000, under the command of the several Bourbon princes, were destined to preserve the peace of the metropolis: and the allied troops to be stationed in the departments. The old French army is to be disbanded. Bonaparte, with a few of his domestics, had sailed from the British Channel, in the Northumberland destined for St: Helena. He did not shoot himself, as he swore he would, rather than be transported among the rats and vermin of this remote island. His banishment was agreed upon by the allied sovereigns. Bertrand, Savary, and the other officers, who accompanied Bona to England, are sent somewhere else; but the destination is not mentioned, except by report, that the vessel, on board of which they were embarked, sailed westward.

[Boston Gazette.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.

Thursday last, 10 boats having on board the 8th United States regiment, said to amount to 700 men, passed this place for Belle Foutaine and Portage des Sioux. We learn that several companies of riflemen are on their way to the same destination. It is much to be regretted that the far advance of the season prevent these Chippeway heroes from visiting the British allies on Rock river,

NATIVE RICHES.

At the Yellow Spring, in Green county, a manufactory of Paint has been commenced, which promises to be of great utility to the country, and a source of wealth to the owners. This spring issues from a small arch in a rock at the top of a precipice about 60 feet in height, and falls into a passing rivulet at the bottom of a ravine. The deposition of matter from the water of the spring, has formed a bank reaching nearly across the ravine and rising almost to a level with the basin of the spring. The substance of this bank with a little preparation, forms a valuable reddish brown pigment, which must supercede importation of Spanish brown into this country; being far superior to that article in quality. From an imperfect examination of the water of this beautiful spring, it is supposed to contain carbonate of lime, carbonic acid, and an oxide of iron. If this analysis is correct the theory of the formation of the bank will be, the escape of the superabundant carbonic acid on exposure to the atmosphere, leaving the carbonate of lime insoluble in water. The coloring matter is evidently oxide of iron. This spring has long been celebrated for its medicinal qualities, and promises to become a place of great resort for those who are in search of health or recreation. In addition to the romantic beauties of the situation at the spring, the great number of natural curiosities in its vicinity, will always furnish a field of amusement to the admirers of nature's eccentricities.

FROM THE OHIO FEDERALIST.

COBBETT.

A letter from Cobbett to some democrats in Albany, is now running the rounds of our democratic papers. It is dated the 16th July, 1815, and purports to be an acknowledgment of a present of a suit of American broadcloth sent by these same Albany democrats to Cobbett, as a testimony of their approbation of his late political writings. That is, in plain language, a reward to Cobbett for his opposition to his own government. Suppose the citizens of Manchaster were to send to the Editors of the Federal Republican a present of a suit of broadcloth, as a testimony of their approbation of the political course of that paper, what would our democrats say? Would it not furnish them an abundant theme of reproach? Would it not be urged as conclusive proof of treachery to the country? Nay, would it not, in fact, furnish strong evidence that the Federal Republican was in foreign pay and foreign service? Wherein do the two cases differ? Does not Cobbett owe allegiance to his own government? Have we not in this country as great privileges as the people have in England? Is not Cobbett as censurable for receiving rewards from American democrats, as Americans would be for receiving rewards from British subjects? I presume there can be no doubt upon this subject. It is for treachery to his own country that our democrats admire Cobbett. For this treachery they reward him—Is it any wonder, that, engaged in this kind of correspondence themselves, our democrats should suspect their neighbours, and clamour so much about British agents?

This letter from Cobbett is really very amusing. It is filled with the most friendly and paternal advice. The writer seem to consider our democracy as under his particular tutelage. He not only gives them much political instruction; he informs them that he means to teach them agriculture also.—His eldest son has written a book on agriculture, and he means to send the manuscript to America for publication some time in November next. No doubt the work will receive abundance of democratick patronage. Cobbett is no ninny.—He knows very well that he is too much out of credit in England to make any thing he writes a profitable job, and knowing also the cullyism of our American democrats he means to palm his trash upon them, and not only his own trash, but the trash of his eldest son into the bargain. Nor does he stop here. His friend major Cartwright has written a book called "England's Ægis." He specially recommends this work to our democrats. It is recommended as developing a plan for "effectually defending the country without a standing army."—This work he says ought to be in the hands of all our governors; and a plan of defence organized upon the principles there laid down, we may "set all the world at defiance." It would seem that these Albany democrats and their suit of broadcloth have done the cause of democracy great service—Cobbett is so thankful, that in return he will himself teach them politics; his son shall teach them agriculture, and major Cartwright shall teach them a plan of military defence. All this is done gratis, upon condition that our democrats will buy the books when printed, and permit Mr. Cobbett, his son, and major Cartwright to pocket the profits. And to such reasonable conditions they will, I presume, submit with great pleasure. But Cobbett despises a pension—and a bribe! oh! of all things it is most abominable. When fined for libelling his government he would not permit his friends to pay the fine by subscription. He was above every sort of charity. But he had on hand a few thousands of his Registers, which nobody would buy. If his friends would take these off his hands at a good round price, he would be glad to sell them, although they could be worth nothing to the purchasers. Just so with his son's book upon agriculture. Our democrats are to buy the manuscript and print it, not because it will be worth any thing, but "as a testimony of their approbation of Mr. Cobbett's late political writings." Yet our democrats never give a bribe!—never reward treachery!—never employ foreign emissaries; and Cobbett himself, in this very letter, advises them to make "no compromise with traitors."

GOVERNOR OF THE SAID COMMONWEALTH.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, I have received authentic information, that some time last winter, a certain Negro Man, belonging to Philip Winebiddle, late of the county of Allegheny, in this Commonwealth, was found dead; and that by a Coroner's Inquest held on the body of the said Negro, it appeared that the deceased came to his death by beating, and other cruel treatment inflicted on him by the said Philip Winebiddle, his master, who has since fled from justice, and refuses to surrender himself, and abide his trial for the said offence: And whereas, the reputation of the government, the peace and security of its citizens, and the obligations of justice and humanity require, that the perpetrator of an offence so heinous, should be brought to speedy and condign punishment. I have therefore thought it proper to issue this Proclamation, hereby offering a Reward of TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS, to any person or persons, who shall apprehend and secure within any jail of this Commonwealth the said Philip Winebiddle if brought to trial, and conviction of the said offence: And all Judges, Justices, Sheriffs, Coroners, Constables, and other Officers within this Commonwealth, according to the duties of their respective stations, are hereby required and enjoined to be attentive and vigilant in enquiring after, and bringing to justice the perpetrator of the crime aforesaid.

LOTS FOR SALE IN THE TOWN OF GRANGER.

THE Subscribers having laid out the Town of Granger, will offer the Lots for Sale on the premises, at Public Vendue, on Thursday the second day of November next.

The Town of Granger is delightfully situated upon an elevated Tract of Land, on the shore of Lake Erie, and west bank of Rock River, in the County of Cuyahoga, and State of Ohio, surrounded by a rich and fertile country, which is rapidly settling. Its situation for healthiness, salubrity of air, purity and conveniency of water, and fertility of soil, is not surpassed, if equalled, by any situation upon Lake Erie.

Rocky River is a stream of pure water, affording excellent mill seats, a fine fishery, an inexhaustible quantity of building stone. Stone Coal has been discovered in its banks. The bay is one of the safest and most commodious harbours on the Lake; the course and depth of the channel being never affected by the drifting of sand, a circumstance very uncommon with the mouths of the Lake Rivers. An Island in the River, near the mouth, around which the ice and drift wood are forced by a bend of the River, forms an excellent harbour for shipping secure from storms and floods. The facility of erecting wharfs at a trifling expence, will considerably add to the many advantages of Granger possesses.

The prospect of opening a communication to the navigable waters of Muskingum and Scioto, being 46 miles north of Wooster, 55 miles north-westerly of Canton, 65 miles north-easterly of Mansfield, and 35 miles from the navigable waters of the Ohio; the immediate prospect of good roads in those directions, must, with a few years, bring the commerce of the southern parts of Ohio and the adjacent States, to Lake Erie.

The situation of the Town of Granger, in point of commercial advantages, will give it a decided preference, and bids fair to be a place of considerable importance, worth the attention of the enterprising Merchant, Manufacturer, and Mechanic.

Liberal encouragement will be given to those who make early improvements in the Town.

Terms of Sale, a small portion in hand, and a liberal credit for the residue.

GINSENG.

THE subscriber wishes to purchase 20,000lbs. of good GINSENG, well washed, dried and sifted. Now is the time to gather it; and from the great quantities in the vicinity of Pittsburgh and the adjoining counties, and the easy manner in which it is collected, no greater inducements to honest and laudable industry has been offered. The Farmer who has a surplus of hands, perhaps too tender for more laborious work; the needy families who have to depend on the caprices of fortune for a temporary subsistence, ought now to leave their less profitable work and gather Ginseng, which will bring the Cash, necessaries of life, or wearing apparel. No matter how small the quantity of Ginseng, so that it is well washed, dried and sifted, and sound roots. The subscriber will attend to it. Those wishing to supply larger quantities, are informed that it must be in the above condition, and packed in tight casks of 150 to 200lbs each, and to be delivered in the course of the ensuing fall, to the subscriber, in Pittsburgh. Letters on this subject immediately attended to.

DOCTOR CHISHOLM'S
Anti-Bilious Pills,

Of a quality superior to any thing of the kind ever offered as a GENERAL MEDICINE, in this Country.

NOW prepared from a recipe of the celebrated Dr. Chisholm, who, from a long residence in the West-India Islands, has been enabled to favor the world with the most complete history, and most approved methods of curing all the BILIOUS DISEASES of those warm climates.

This extraordinary Medicine, which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuent of Bile, is without example; never producing debility or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child or weakly female:

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excruciating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flaxseed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and DISEASES OF THE LIVER, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case the dose may be increased according to the strength or constitution.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing and great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

The above valuable Medicine is Sold ONLY in Pittsburgh, by
J. P. & J. W. SKELTON,

DOCTOR HANDY'S
WORM
DESTROYING LOZENGES.

A safe and efficacious medicine for destroying and bringing away WORMS.

MAY be used with safety by children of any age, or as common physic by the most delicate constitution, in any climate, without restraint of diet, or the smallest danger from cold. It may be given with advantage after the small-pox or measles; or as a family medicine, in any case where physic is necessary.—The most frequent seat of worms in the human body, is the intestinal tube; but occasionally they have been found in almost every other part of the body.

Some very extraordinary cases of Worms, of an unusual form and appearance, being brought away by these Lozenges, have been made public in England, where the rapid sale of the medicine has exceeded any thing of the kind ever known before; and has also proved, to a demonstration, its approved superiority, as an athelminthick, to the numerous puffed-up, useless nostrums, which are daily advertised in the newspapers.

A single dose of this valuable medicine has often been known to remove half a pot full of the Teres or Round Worms.

A few doses are generally sufficient to remove the Ascarides, a small white worm, the seat of which is either the stomach or rectum.

Even the Tape Worm, at all times the most difficult to destroy, may, by persevering in the frequent use of this medicine, be totally removed in the course of a few weeks.

To select cases, with the names of people who are not known here, and living at a great distance, would be useless, and take up too much of the readers time. We shall therefore only observe, for the benefit of those who are acquainted with the symptoms of worms, that they are known or suspected to exist by a pain in the stomach, attended with a sudden depression of spirits before eating; at other times the belly is hard, painful and distended with wind—costiveness, head ache, and trembling of the limbs, with a sense of something rising in the throat—pale complexion and emaciated body, with weakness and irregular appetite—convulsive, epileptic or falling fits—pains in the back and side, and frequent itching of the nose, and sometimes of the anus. The above and a long train of afflicting diseases may all be occasioned by worms, which are much oftener the cause of death than is commonly believed.

PITTSBURGH
Manhattan School,
FOR YOUNG LADIES & GENTLEMEN

MR. LOOMIS, respectfully returns thanks to his patrons for their liberal patronage since the commencement of his School in this place, and informs them and the public that he continues to teach both sexes Reading, Penmanship analytically, English Grammar, English Composition, Geography, with the use of the Globes and Maps, Drawing of Maps, Bookkeeping, the Languages, &c.

The system of Education adopted in this School, will be that which is pursued in the celebrated Manhattan School, in the city of New-York, conducted by Mr. A. Picket, its successful founder; and which is acknowledged by men of the first literary reputation to be one of the best conducted Schools, in that city or in the United States. Here, about five hundred children of both sexes, comprising some of the best families in the city, constantly attend and are taught in such a manner as does the greatest honor to the teacher, and results in the happiest consequence to the pupils. It is of the utmost importance to teach children in such a manner that they will understand what they learn, and know how to apply it to the active pursuits of life. To give them words without accustoming them to attach some definite meaning to them, is, like blindfolding a man and commanding him to find a certain object; every effort leads him astray and renders him more uncertain of its attainment, so children if their minds are burdened with knowledge without understanding, find themselves uninterested in the pursuit, of course their progress in acquiring it will be but small: they must be brought to love learning if we would expect ever to teach them to good purpose, for the mind always eagerly imbraces that which it previously loves.

In this School every requisite attention will be paid to the learning and amiable deportment of the pupils, and no labour will be thought too arduous to form the young mind for future usefulness and respectability in society. The education of youth is difficult and requires unwearied attention and experience, for no man is born a teacher, it is an occupation which requires many years practice to become a proficient in the business. To his many years experience in teaching an extensive School and unwearied diligence, the subscriber looks for public patronage, pledging himself to a conscientious discharge of the duties incumbent on a teacher, he with confidence solicits the patronage of the public.

For terms of Tuition, References, &c. please to apply at the School Room, over Mr THOMAS ALGEO'S Store, Market Street

N. B. Young Ladies will be taught plain and ornamental Needle Work, in a separate apartment, by Mrs. Loomis.

Morning Tuition will commence on the 1st of May, for Penmanship, from 6 to 8 o'clock, at Six Dollars a quarter, payable in advance
